

The World is Your Classroom: Teach Abroad with the English Language Fellow Program

As a U.S. Department of State public diplomacy initiative, the English Language Fellow Program sends experienced TESOL professionals abroad to teach English and conduct teacher training. Since 1969, thousands of Fellows have assisted U.S. Embassies to enhance English language teaching capacity overseas and increase mutual understanding through cultural exchange.

- Assignments are 10 months long, usually from September to June.
- Approximately 150 Fellows are selected for teaching assignments each year.
- Projects are located in more than 80 countries.
